

Bring The Wall Home

There are 4,336 names of American Heroes that will be lost if a memorial to US soldiers and airmen located in Kirkuk, Iraq, cannot be brought home.

The memorial, created in 2009 as a joint project by US Army and Air Force troops stationed in Kirkuk, is painted on 22 cement barriers and spans over 280 feet. This memorial is going to be painted over as the base closes and US troops withdraw from Iraq.

However, we want this work brought to the United States to make it available for us to pay tribute to those listed on the Wall. Each name identifies a friend, a son or daughter, father or mother to a family at home. One of those names may be among our own hometown heroes. Whichever the case, with over 4,336 names posted on this memorial, they are America's sons and daughters. They are all HEROES!

Please help us preserve this precious memorial - our Armed Forces want this home - they've asked for our help.
